

Behold our God

Fall 2025

AW Tozer once famously said, “what comes into our minds when we think about God is the most important thing about us.” Our view of God, His character, His essence, His ways – is vitally important because it shapes our perspective on everything else. Seeing God rightly (as much as possible with our human limitations) will help us rightly see ourselves, our circumstances, this world and our place in it. What we believe about God - it really matters.

In a culture where God is often minimized and maligned, in an era marked by war, sin and disease, amid our own painful trials and difficulties, we need to keep a big view of God. We must remember that He is awesome. He is all-powerful. Always near. Perfect in all His ways. These truths are amazing and profound. And leaning into them will bring comfort, confidence and hope – no matter what we’re facing.

Each week, we will explore a different attribute of God. We’ll dig into the Bible to learn how He has revealed Himself. Then we’ll consider how His divine traits directly impact our daily living. Ultimately, we want to know God better. We want to draw near and grow in understanding, love and worship for our Creator.

We are praying that this study will delight the soul and open our eyes to the glory of God in a new way.

If you’re someone who is curious about the God of the Bible, or maybe new to the Christian faith, or if you’ve been a believer for decades, we know you’ll be greatly encouraged as we gather over the coming months, to Behold Our God!

Join us this fall from Sep 10 - Dec 10 at 9:30-11:15 am or 7:00-8:45 pm at the Met.
